JOSEPH GAETA INJURED TRAFFIC MISHAP

Joseph (Joe) Gaeta, 39, popular Albany attorney, was painfully injured Thursday, September 14, when he was struck by a car in Arlington Circle.

According to his law partner, Joseph Brophy, Gaeta was en route to work from his home in the city when he was struck at the intersection of Marin and University Avenues. He parked his car and started across the street in search of a telephone. About three steps from the sidewalk, he was hit by a car driven by Miss Marian A. Alford, a nurse, of 218 Cambridge Avenue, Kensington.

The attorney was rushed to Herrick Hospital and later transferred to Merritt Hospital in Oakland. As of this writing, he is not allowed visitors.

Brophy said his partner suffered a fractured pelvis and numerous bruises and lacerations, particularly of the face. His condition is satisfactory.

Berkeley police cited Miss Alford for violating a pedestrian right-of-way.

City Council Hears First Draft of Resolution on Rapid Transit Location

With the air of a David preparing to do battle with a Goliath, members of the Albany City Council girded themselves last night with the reading of the first draft of a resolution presented to the County Board of Supervisors regarding a new route of rapid transit.

The resolution is a rather lengthy list of reasons why the line would be more favorably located on the Southern Pacific right-of-way, near the free-way, than along the Santa Fe right-of-way, which bisects the city.

Prepared by Administrative Officer James B. Turner, it will be formally presented to the Council next Monday night.

Although city officials, who objected to the proposed route through the middle of the city since 1910, had anticipated some assistance from large landowners in the county, they came to the conclusion Monday night they will have to fight the issue with only the assistance of Cerrito.

At a recent mayors' conference, Mayor Carlevaro, Administrator Turner and Councilman Howell came away with the feeling that officials of the larger cities, though sympathetic, believe the routing problem is Albany's.

Councilman Howell said that while they had originally thought the only place to battle the routing was before the Board of Supervisors, George Silliman of Newark, director of Rapid Transit, representing mayors of Alameda County, has promised to meet with councilmen to discuss the matter.

Following the reading of the resolution, Mayor Carlevaro asked for comments from the audience.

R. G. Buckwalter of 655 Spokane Avenue, suggested an underground route under the Key Route strip.

Charles Nausin of 956 Key Route Blvd., drew a laugh when he said he'd gotten a letter from the Old Country the other day that "said we're saps."

When Mayor Carlevaro asked him what they are doing there, the man said they had subways underground.

The reading of the tentative resolution was in an informal session following the regular Council meeting. A report of the final version, which will be presented officially Monday night, will be carried next week.

Vacation's Over For 2,430 Albany School Children

Curled up, plastered down, freshly scrubbed, boys and girls of Albany's elementary schools, 1459 strong, poured into their classrooms Monday.

Along Key Route Blvd., anyone would have known that September 11 was The Day merely by the sounds: giggles, shouts, screeching tires and the patter of not-so-little feet. This was the high school crowd, 971 of them.

By the time things settled down and all noses were counted, school officials came up with a grand total enrollment of 2,430, about normal for Albany schools.

The breakdown: Marin, 553; MacGregor, 118; Vista, 165, and Cornell, 623. Four high school students and 76 Cornell youngsters live in University Village.

Chief Jensen Urges Driver Caution As Schools Open

Police Chief Ralph Jensen has issued a special appeal to drivers to do everything in their power to protect and preserve the boys and girls attending Albany schools.

"The lives of these children are in the hands that drive YOUR car," Chief Jensen said, asking motorists to observe the directions of traffic officers and the young safety patrols.

"Watch out for children on their way to and from school and at play," the police chief said. "Be alert at the wheel. Expect the unexpected; you'll be surprised how often it happens where children are concerned. Keep your car in good mechanical condition. Keep tragedy out of the lives of little children and remorse out of your own."

Boyich Questions Necessity Of Hiring Police Officer

What seemed to be a routine City Council matter was upset temporarily Monday night when Councilman Paul R. Boyich questioned the necessity of Police Chief R. M. Jensen's appointing a replacement for Officer Myron Jose, who resigned.

The motion to accept Chief Jensen's appointment of Wayne Olikkaca, effective September 16, was on the floor, when Councilman Boyich asked that it be held in abeyance for one week. Mayor Carlevaro asked for his reasons.

Councilman Boyich, reading from a 1953 administrative report prepared by O. W. Wilson, said that that year Albany had 19 people in the police department with a population of 17,500. It now has 21 police department employees with a population of 14,500. He further added that in 1953, one-third of the police problem was Codornices Village, which no longer exists.

He urged a survey to re-evaluate the requirements and needs of the police department in view of the "financial and economic stress" in the City of Albany, adding that it was not his intention to under-man the department.

Councilman Lewis M. Howell, who was mayor at the time of the 1953 survey, pointed out that the report also mentioned that the Albany police department needed six more policemen, but Councilman Boyich was unable to find such a recommendation.

Councilman Howell added that the present force of 21 people operates 24 hours a day in three shifts, "often operating with two men on the street. In case of a freeway accident, Berkeley and El Cerrito policemen fill in. . . I can't see cutting the protection of our children and the citizens of Albany. . ."

Councilman Boyich expressed surprise at a statement in the report which said the police chief can appoint or promote members of the force without Council approval. Councilman Howell said this is correct, but that the Chief must inform the Council of his action.

Boyich also mentioned that when the Golden Gate Turf Club is open, the sergeant receives pay from the track, but policemen do not.

"During the 90 days last time, six police officers were tied up two-thirds of the day at the track," he added, again requesting that the liaison to the department and the administrative officer investigate the police department and make recommendations.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING SHORT, SWEET--ALMOST

The Albany City Council made short work of the majority of its brief agenda Monday night.

Among matters taken care of with a great show of unanimity were the payment of claims; ratification of the payment of pensions; approval of the September 18 - October 1 vacation of E. J. Rooney, acting superintendent of the Park and Recreation Commission; approval of zoning variance requests by Emil Damonte and E. J. Kaldunski; confirmation of the Carlevaro appointment of Francis Rogers of 1241 Solano Avenue to the Park and Recreation Commission;

Promising co-operation with the Industrial Accident Commission with regard to the compensation claim of John Verrelli, injured February 28, 1960, and request to the City Attorney to prepare an agreement with the Albany Child Care Center for use of space in the Community Center building.

Mayor Carlevaro 'Not Himself' Monday Night

The face was the same; only the name was different!

Albany Mayor Joe Carlevaro sat through the entire Monday meeting of the City Council behind the name plate of Vice Mayor George Hein, whose desk bore Carlevaro's name.

At the conclusion of the session, someone from the audience pointed out the switch.

Councilmen agreed to go through a resolution prepared by City Administrator James B. Turner regarding Rapid Transit following the Council meeting.

It promised to be short and sweet, but then the matter of a replacement for a resigned policeman came up. For details, see separate story.

By IRENE GROVE

"Merit Badge of Community Cooperation" is the slogan above the membership plaque of the Livermore Chamber of Commerce. It tells the story in a few chosen words for the Albany Chamber of Commerce membership plaque as well — so look for this "merit badge" displayed by progressive Albany businesses — they are a part of the organization devoted to a united effort to build a better business and cultural climate for Albany.

"Nowadays people who say it can't be done are being interrupted by people who are doing it." This holds true on the seemingly impossible problems facing Albany and your Chamber of Commerce. Attention is again focused on the proposed Bay Area Rapid Transit route through our city. The proposed route along the Santa Fe Railroad right-of-way would be unacceptable to the best interest of citizens of Albany, dividing the city with an aerial structure of the fast moving trains, would remove important taxable property, and cause a real inconvenience and hardship to everyone. Present plans eliminate a station in our city and provide for one in El Cerrito near the shopping center. Protests in the past have seemingly fallen on deaf ears but nothing is impossible. The Albany City Council is again making an official protest to the Bay Area Rapid Transit and to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, but let's hear the voice of you, the individual citizens of Albany. We must insist that alternative routes be considered and that Albany be the location of a station.

Albany business men — you are needed — needed as volunteers in the Business Area Drive for the Albany United Crusade! So little is asked for so much to be gained — only a few hours of your time for a worthy purpose. Call Business Chairman, Stan Loiseau, at Mechanics Bank today. Organization for the Alameda County Drive is almost complete — let's not Albany linger behind. "Someone is Depending On You" — so "let's not have a reason why we can't do something — let's have one reason why we can."

The fall quarter of Albany's Adult Education evening classes opened September 11, but it is still not too late to enroll in one or more of the many self-improvement courses offered. The opportunity is there — it is up to you to take advantage of it.

New schedules for activities at the Albany YMCA are in effect listing all kinds of interesting character and body building activities for Albany citizens of all ages. Remember this is one of the worthwhile agencies supported in part by your United Crusade dollars.

Which reminds us — we still need bottle caps — those special

Pepsiola caps marked with a "white star" and redeemable for funds for the Albany "Y". Elmer Coble reports fine response, but more are needed.

A special thank you to all who helped make the "Welcome New Tea-hers" such a delightful occasion — to the businessmen and women who attended — to the Heather and Thistle for wonderful food and service, to Park and Shop for the apples, and to Art Carlson and Howard Rohrer for table favors.

Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District Reports on 4% Gain in Last 6 Months

AC Transit presented one of the nation's rosiest transportation pictures during the first six months of 1961 with revenue showing an increase of more than 4 per cent above last year.

General Manager John R. Worthington reported that total passenger revenue collected for the period from both local and transbay lines amounted to $5,710,511 as compared to $5,489,177 collected between January and June of last year. This is an increase of 4.1 per cent.

Worthington, in a mid-year financial report to the board of directors, said revenues from transbay service increased 6.21 per cent. Transbay fare income increased $123,773 to a total of $2,117,832 for the six month period.

Income from local East Bay lines showed a boost of 2.89 per cent — an increase of $101,101 to $3,596,219.

In number of passengers carried which came to 24,236,000, AC Transit was one of the new transportation operations in the Nation to show a substantial increase in riders, the transit official said.

While the number of passengers carried by AC Transit increased more than three per cent, other West Coast transit operations suffered a decline. The National average for the six months showed a 3.79 per cent decrease.

In southern California communities, passengers dropped from 1.7 per cent to as much as 11 per cent, while in the Pacific Northwest, riding was generally off about 6.75 per cent.

The brightest spot on the West Coast was in Northern California where, eliminating AC Transit's in rease, riding was only slightly down — less than one-half of one per cent.

Worthington credited AC Transit's new equipment, reduced travel times and a million miles of annual new service as primarily responsible for the boost in riders and revenue in the East Bay.

"We took over from Key System Transit Lines with the promise — and the plan — to make bus travel something people wanted to take advantage of," Worthington noted.

"We think bus transit must be attractive and comfortable as well as fast and convenient," he said. "We realize we have to compete with the family automobile and make the public transportation reasonably comparable to the private automobile."

TV College of Air Opens Program September 25th

The Correspondence Instruction Department of University of California Extension will participate in the 1961-62 nationwide television programs "Continental Classroom" and "College of the Air". Professional teaching credit may be earned in conjunction with television viewing of courses in American government, biology and modern algebra. Undergraduate credit may also be earned for correspondence instruction based on the modern algebra series.

The NBC program "Continental Classroom" returns to the air September 25 with a new course "The Structure and Functions of American Government," along with a repeat of the series "Modern Algebra."

The CBS program "College of the Air" begins September 26 with a course in "The New Biology for Teachers."

"American Government" will be telecast daily, Monday through Friday, from 6:30 to 7 a.m. on the NBC-TV network. Teaching the course will be one of the nation's outstanding political scientists, Dr. Peter H. Odegard, professor of political science on the U.C. Berkeley campus. Dr. Odegard is former president of Reed College and has held a number of government posts. Guest lecturers will include distinguished men from high levels of government, industry, and the arts and sciences.

Information about credit and enrollment may be obtained from the Department of Correspondence Instruction, University of California Extension, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Finnish Cheese Introduced At Dagna's Market

Joe Dagna of Dagnas' Market has invited Albany residents to stop in this weekend to sample a line of Finnish cheese, newly introduced in this country.

A woman will be on hand Saturday to distribute slices of the cheese, tell of its uses in the home and instruct on the proper pronunciation.

Among the types will be Valio Swiss cheese; Tilsit with caraway and plain, and Turunmaa, which compares with the familiar Monterey Jack, Dagna said.

Church Women Plan Meeting Friday, Sept. 15

Miss Irma Riley, president of the Berkeley-Albany Council of Church Women, will preside at the first fall meeting, on September 15, at 10 a.m. at St. John's Presbyterian Church, 2610 College Avenue, Berkeley. A board of directors meeting to plan a Leadership Education Day for September 29 and World Community Day November 3, will be followed by a book review. At noon, coffee and dessert will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Fred A. Carpenter. Those attending the morning meeting will bring their own sandwiches.

A review of the year's study book, "Education, Women and the Church in America," will be given by Mrs. Fred Mayer, following luncheon. This book is authored by Mrs. Esther Hymer, published for the General Department of United Church Women, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. She has often visited Latin America, the countries to whom the gifts for World Community Day are to be given this year. This date, November 3, will be celebrated all over the United States with the object of helping school-age children in Latin America. Gifts of clothing, because "many children in Latin American countries are not in school because they do not have suitable clothing", and gifts of "materials with which to work", such as school bags with pencils, erasers, pads of paper, notebooks and crayons will be brought by the women of this community to the dinner on World Community Day. Mrs. F. F. Foster is chairman of this project of sewing and gift collection.

In Berkeley, a dinner meeting on November 3, at the Trinity Methodist Church, with an address by Dr. Robert Schlager, former pastor of the English Speaking Church in Buenos Aires, is being planned by a committee headed by Mrs. Irving L. Walker and Mrs. Harold E. Queen, to celebrate World Community Day.

All members of the Berkeley-Albany Council of Church Women are assisting with the reception for the new executive of the Council of Churches, Dr. Bruce Wood, to be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday, September 10, 4 to 6 p.m.

East Bay MUD Gets Big Tax Reduction On Water Rights

A State Board of Equalization ruling — which may save East Bay taxpayers more than $325,000 a year — was called "most satisfactory" today by John W. McFarland, general manager of the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

In its ruling September 1, the Board of Equalization slashed to $575,000 an $3.3 million assessment placed against the District's Mokelumne River water rights by Amador and Calaveras counties.

Under the assessment originally sought by the two mountain counties, East Bay taxpayers would have had to pay more than $350,000 in taxes this year alone, with no guarantee against future in reases. The Board of Equalization ruling will cut this yearly tax payment to approximately $23,000.

The board found that most of the District's water rights were acquired directly from the State of California and were not taxable.

The assessment of $575,000 ordered by the board is on a small portion of the utility's water rights acquired from private individuals in the 1930's. These rights were taxable prior to their acquisition by EBMUD.

"It was a reasonable and equitable decision," said McFarland. "We're happy to abide by it. The Board of Equalization is certainly to be commended for the thoroughness with which it studied the complex question of water rights taxation, and also for the fair and open-minded consideration which it gave to all the points of view presented."

Businesses Hear Informing Note
There is no need for the frantic Western bloc of nations to fear that the Communist will take universal control of the earth. So stated Nathan Knorr, president of the Watchtower Society, before a packed audience at San Francisco's West Park and overflow.
Knorr, who was the principal speaker, climaxed the United Nations Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses. He assured his hearers that, "none of the nations will gain world domination, no matter which bloc dominates outer space. The universal rule," Knorr added, "is the domination of the whole world has already been conferred on Jesus Christ. So valiantly to the 'King of Eternity' Jehovah's Witnesses unite in God's kingdom, not matter what lands they are found."
